

Total Baseball Academy (TBA)

Summer Camp

This week long camp is for the baseball enthusiast who wants to learn more about the game while working hard and having fun, this is not a day care camp.

Space will be limited so get your registration form in today to reserve your spot.

Two separate sessions:

Session: 1 Monday July 29- Friday August 2

Session: 2 Monday August 5- Friday August 9 (choose one or attend both)

Age: 8-14

Time daily: 8:30am Early Drop off; camp begins at 9am sharp. Camp is over at 3:30pm.

Location: Jefferson Play Field - 1600 So. Columbian Way, Seattle (right next to Asa Mercer Middle School)

Staff: Current En Fuego Coaches, Current and Past Players

The camp is set up to create an environment that will provide continuous exposure to the key intangibles of the game of baseball forgotten in most hitting, pitching and infield camps! The goal is to build enthusiasm and the want for more baseball understanding in building future baseball prospects.

From EnFuego Sports President, Steve Avila:

“It’s easy to identify the What’s of the game but to have answers, the Why’s is the key to a successful, well developed physically and mentally prepared player.”

“Young NW players today don’t get enough to very little exposure to the intangibles of the game. One excuse is weather and lack of games due to weather, there is some truth to that excuse but I believe we are over indulged with hitting and pitching coaches and not nearly enough game management instruction. I see high school players who lack knowledge of what to do in game situations, bunt defenses, cut off and relays, run downs, 1st and 3rd defense, 1st and 3rd offense, when not to swing or when to swing with runners in motion, hitters counts, secondary and lead offs against right handed and left handed pitchers, pre-pitch anticipation and the list goes on, these intangibles allow young players to become good to great players. There is a big need to teach the game of baseball beyond the hitting and pitching mechanics with emphasis on the Why’s, why and when we should do things and not to be surprised or naïve to situations when they occur, big reason for camp!”

2013 Staff:

Rodney Holloway- Current Total Baseball Camp Director and Youth Academy Director for En Fuego Sports Baseball Academy, Previously coached at the college and high school level. He has worked with players that have gone onto play high school, college and professional baseball.

Other instructors include current and past En Fuego players

The staff has multiple years of experience at all levels of the game Youth, High School, College and Professional, both playing and coaching.

What to wear and bring: all baseball gear, if you’re a catcher bring your catchers gear, glove, bat, batting helmet, wear baseball pants, you will be provided hat and two shirts that you will wear each day, cleats and tennis shoes.

Bring a lunch and a snack this will be a long day on the yard so be prepared.

We will provide each player a bottled water at lunch time. Keeping your kids hydrated throughout the day will be important.

This total camp will be the foundation to build on for the future of your young athlete, when most programs are shutting down for the year we are just getting started! Learning to play the game the right way never takes time off.
