2013 Elementary Football Clinic Series

As the new head football coach at Seymour High School, one of my main goals is to expand upon the tradition of Seymour Owl football. To do so, a major objective of our program is to instill a full program from top to bottom. This means that our program is fully committed to providing as many positive opportunities for the youth of our community to participate in football as possible, from Kindergarten all the way through the high school. With this in mind, I am proud to present the 2013 Elementary football clinics! This series of clinics will take place on three different Saturday mornings and will be split into two age groups. The first age group will be made up of students currently in Kindergarten through 2nd grade. The second age group will consist of students currently in 3rd through 5th grade.

The goal of these clinics is to introduce players and parents to our program at a young age and to begin building long-lasting relationships for our future. The motto for our program is "piece of the puzzle." By attending these clinics, parents and players alike will become a piece of the puzzle that is the foundation of our program as a whole. As the leader of our program, I firmly believe that the game of football teaches life lessons that cannot be taught elsewhere. Fun, teamwork, discipline, self-respect and confidence are all essential traits that the game of football molds into our youth. These clinics are not about schemes or strategy. Instead, they are about providing a fun, worthwhile experience for your son while being introduced to the basic fundamentals of the game of football.

Below you will find specific information about the clinics. Please note that the times are different depending on which age group your son is in. We strongly encourage parents to get their kids out to these clinics and become part of the Seymour Owls football family. We look forward to seeing you this spring! Go Owls!
