I thought I would share a point of interest with you, that you may not be aware of.

In what I do, I have to be aware of every nuance in glove making.

A recent nuance is the need for, and manufacturing of ambidextrous gloves for both the MLB and Minor Leagues, as well as, the amateur consumer/player.

Louisville Slugger is supposed to be working on one too. But, I have not yet seen a picture of it.

I have shown the four most predominant ones for your review. In some ways, they have a strange resemblance to the flatter gloves of the 1930's and 1940's.
