

EMBL Sportsmanship Policy: EMBL requires all coaches, players and fans to always exhibit good sportsmanship. Coaches need to set an example for his/her players and the fans. If fans from your town are going over the top during a game, we expect coaches to help calm the situation.

1. Any coach that receives one technical will follow the Seat Belt Rule and will have to coach the remainder of the game seated. This includes if an assistant coach/team scorekeeper is given a technical the head coach will be seated the rest of the game. The head coach should be the only coach standing while the game is played unless another coach is giving medical attention to an injured player.

2. Any player or coach who has been given two technicals will be suspended for remainder of the current game and be suspended for the next consecutive game played. (Includes Playoffs). Two technicals in the same game is considered an ejection.

3. Any player or coach who has been ejected from a game must leave the facility immediately or the team will forfeit the current game or even possibly face league suspension for the remainder of the season (Includes Playoffs).

4. Physical violence towards league board members, coaches, officials, spectators or other players, immediately before, during or after the game (can include non-violent confrontations) will result in a minimum of a year (1) loss of eligibility of league play or indefinite suspension. EMBL Board's decision!

5. Game officials have the authority to remove coaches, players or spectators or other players from the game due to unsportsmanlike conduct. The game will not resume until violating party has left the facility. Unsportsmanlike conduct shall include, but not limited to profanity, racially charged comments, threats of any kind towards coaches, officials, scorekeepers, players or facility staff, or flagrant foul deemed with malicious intent.

6. If a spectator has been removed from the facility, we as a group will do our best to get the name of offending party and have their associated club or team send an email or letter (copy to EMBL) stating if ejected from another facility a second time they along with their player will be subject to a (1) year suspension from league play.

7. Teams are responsible for notifying EMBL (Ryan Lincoln) of any technical received by their team. Multiple offenses including from one year to another can result in suspension for a game or more decided on by EMBL Board.

8. Any and all suspensions will be reviewed and voted on by EMBL Board Members.
